

Tacos De Papa

Ingredients

- ☐ 2 medium russet potatoes
- ☐ 2 cups shredded cheese (Mexican Muenster, chihuahua, asadero or Oaxaca)
- ☐ 1 teaspoon salt
- ☐ 1/2 teaspoon black pepper
- ☐ 12 corn tortillas
- ☐ 1/2 cup frying oil

Garnishes

- ☐ shredded cabbage
- ☐ Diced tomato
- ☐ Sour cream or Mexican crema
- ☐ Salsa

Directions

- Prepare your toppings and shred the cheese.
- Heat a comal (griddle) over medium heat. Once hot, warm up each of the tortillas until soft and pliable. Be careful not to let them crisp up or it will not be possible to fold them correctly.
- Keep in a tortilla warmer or clean kitchen towel to ensure they stay warm and soft.
- Wash and peel potatoes. Use the larger holes on a box grater to grate the potatoes.
- Mix the shredded potatoes with shredded cheese, salt and pepper.
- Add a spoonful of the potato mixture down the center of each tortilla and fold to enclose the potatoes.
- Heat about a half-inch of oil in a heavy medium-sized pan and fry the tacos in batches on both sides until golden brown and crispy. Once golden, remove tacos from the oil and place them on a paper towel-lined plate or a wire rack to drain excess oil.
- Serve immediately with your choice of toppings, garnishes and homemade jalapeño salsa

NOTES

- Once the potatoes are shredded they will turn brown pretty quickly. You can place the shredded potatoes in cold water to keep them from browning, but I don't necessarily recommend this as it will make the potatoes retain more moisture which may break the tortillas. Also the starch from the freshly shredded potatoes is what helps the tortillas stick together when frying the tacos
